All Around the Farm Sweet potatoes should be stored for the winter in a dry room, in a temperate not lower than 45 degrees.

The average fruit-grower does not exer cise enough caution in handling and assorting fruit. The value of the skim milk of one cow, if handled with skill and intelligence, it is estimated, will be about $15 annually.

In localities where alfalfa thrives well it is estimated that one acre of alfalfa will turnish pasture for ten or twenty hogs. Turnips for table use should be put i layers of sand in barrels. When stored that way they are fresh, and never wilt or shrivel up.—American Cardening.

There are 74 stations and sub-station in the United States, in which 576 trained specialists are employed throughout the year, solving by experiment and study the hundreds of important problems which confront the tiller of the soil. Montanna leads all other States thi year in the production of wool, with 21,-530,013 pounds. The national Wool Growers' Association estimates the crop this year to be, unwashed, about 272,474,700 pounds. When scoured, the total weight will be reduced about 60 per cent., or to 115,284,579 pounds. Whenever phosphate is sown with grain a part of the fertilizer is always appropriated by the clover seed sown with it Clover is a lime plant, and it also needs the phosphoric acid that is so helpful to the wheat. The phosphate is especially valuable when applied to clover that is to produce a seed crop. Potash is also needed to make clover seed well, and should be applied in some form. The American Gardening says: Flower beds in the garden are like ribbons on the dress-very peautiful when in their right place, but in both cases one often sees "too much of a good thing." A beautiful lawn should never be cut up with beds of symmetrical forms; put them where they belong, and if room be scarce keep them It is estimated that it takes 150 pounds of butter at a good market to pay for the keeping of one cow. At a standard of per cent. of butter fat, that amount of butter will require about 3500 pounds of milk. Therefore a cow must yield 3500 pounds of milk to pry her way. In order to have a fair prolit it is necessary that she yield something like 500 pounds of 4 pc French peasants have a belief that if fire with much smoke is made in the stove on the approach of a storm safety from lightning will be insured. Schuster shows that the custom is based on reason, as the -moke serves as a very good conductor for carrying away the electricity slowly and safely. In 1000 cases of damages by lightning, 6.3 churches and 8.5 mills have been struck, but the number of factory chim nevs was only 0.3.

When a hog's appetite fails nine times out of ten it is for lack of pure water. Is is especially so with hogs kept in pens. Feeding them milk or swill is not a substi tute for water. Milk, when curdled, i seen to be largely solid. It has just a much soild matter before curdling as after As for swill, it has mostly more or less salt in it, which utterly unfits it to be used for quenching thirst. Do not let the hogs suffer if anything so cheap as water will satisfy them. There is far more danger of giving house plants too much rather than too little water in winter. During the short days and long nights, with very little sunlight on the soil, it is hard to keep it at a temperature where the plants can grow vigorously. All the surplus water added lowers the temperature until it reaches a point where the plants barely exist without making any growth. If the soil has much vegetable matter, humic acid will be developed at a low temperature and this will poison the plant roots.

As the poulterer is about these days getting rid of his surplus fowls, it is well for him to know that much of their character and value for keeping depends on the combs. Varieties differ from each other, but in each variety the hen that has the brightest red comb will, if kept where it cannot be frozen, make the best winter layer. A dull-combed fowl in fall probably cannot be got into condition for laying before spring. Feeding too nightly defeats its purpose, as it induces fattening rather than large egg production.

A quart or two of sweet apples per day for each horse will be worth more to it than the same bulk of oats additional to its regular ration of bay and grain. The apples are better than any kind of roots, and this year they are everywhere cheap and plenty. Sour apples are nearly as good, but the horses prefer the sweet apples when they can be had. In nutritive value there is very little difference. There is much sweet in what we call "sour" apple, which is only called "sour" because the acid disguises the sweet it contains.

Sheep have been so thinned off the past needs to be assorted, for, no matter though the price of sheep and wool be on the rise there are some that cannot pay for winter ing. When a sheep has reached a fall month, which will be when it is 5 years old, it very quickly begins to deteriorate A sheep 7 or 8 years old is as old as any shrep should be kept, unless it is of som special breed and with pay to keep longer as a breeder. Ewes will breed until they are 12 years old or more, but they will require to be fed with cut feed and much of it in succulent form in winter,

AN EXPENSIVE COW. Ex-Senator Philetus Sawyer, of Wisconsin, told the following story recently "When we were living on my turm is Rosendale it became necessary to sell a cow. The buyer wanted a certain cow or none at all. It happened to be the cow I had given to my wife. I went into the house and told my wife. She, the good soul, said : 'Sell her but I want the money. I sold the cow, gave my wife a comple of dollars and said: Call on me when you want more.' When she wanted to buy a dress, bonnet or wedding ed to buy a dress, bonnet or wedding present she would ask for some cowmoney. I had paid back several thousand dollars and was wondering when the demand would cease. A house was built. If had to be furnished. We figured up what the furnishing would cost. It amounted to several thousand dollars. I said: 'Wife I'll pay you the balance of that cow money and you can pay for furnishing the house with it.' It was a bargain and the cow deal was over. The $20 cow cost the old senator nearly $20,000, but he never complained at the price."

Somethers to depend on.—Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case gre w so serious that physicama at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at Huber's Drug Store, 5

GRANT AND WASHINGTON. vo Serials Which "The Century Magazin

Gant ever had was Horace Porter. Their irst meeting was at Chattanooga in the autumn of 1863, and soon after General (then Captain)Porter became a member of Grant's stall and served with him constantly until Lee's surrender. When Grant became President Horace Porter was made his private secretary, and until General Grant breathed his last at Mt.

McGregor the two men were close friends. Nor did General Porter's love for his chief access of the movement to raise the balf million of dollars which the Grant monuent in Riverside Park will cost. The mext spring, on General Grant's birthday, and General Porter will be the orator o

During these years of intimacy with Grant General Porter kept a diary and in nis moments of leisure he has arranged his unique stores of unecdotes and memo randa into a series of twelve articles en the coming year. Since the famous "Century War Series," for which General Grant himself wrote four articles (the beinning of his "Memoirs"), no magazine has had such a treat to lay before its read

Another great scrial in The Century is a novel of the American Revolution, written by the well-known Philadelppia phy sician' Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story i supposed to be the autobiography of the hero, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," who becomes an officer on General Washington's staff, and the characters in the story include Washington, Franklin, and Lafayette. It is said that the readers of 'Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," will obtain a clearer idea of the Revolutionary War than can be had from any other single scource. It is believed that Dr. Mitchell has written "the great American novel" for which we have been waiting

These are only two of the features of The Century for the coming year. Few of our readers will be without in in 1897. It costs $4.0b a year—not too high a price for what The Century gives; but many people are arranging to club together in groups of our, paying one dollar each, and securing the reading of the magazine one week in the month. The publishers advise the making up of clubs early. Send $4.00 to The Century Co , Union Square, New York, with the name of the person to whom the magazine is to be sent. If you begin your subscription with the December (Christmas) number, the publishers will send you a copy of the November number free, in which the two great serlals here described begin.

The list is long and sturdy. One series of papers alone would sell the magazine: that is, the three White House articles which ex-President Harrison is to write. No man has ever done what General Harrison will do in these articles: show us what "A Day With the President at His Desk" means in one article; in another tell of "The Social Life of the President," and in a third article describe "Upstairs Life in the White House." Each of the articles will be profusely illustrated. Another series equally fascinating is the one called "Great Personal Events," in which some of the greatest entiusiasms which have occured in America will be revived; those wonderful times when Louis Koseuth rode ap Broadway; when the young Prince of Wales was here; when Jenny Lind sang in Castle Garden; when Henry Ward Beecher electrified his congregation by selling slaves in his pulpit when Graot went around the world; when Henry Clay bade farewell to the senate; when John Wesley preached in Georgia of which so few know. All these memorable events and others will be vividly recalled, told more graphically than ever before, and illustrated with pictures which have occupied twelve arusts for over a year. A third series i unique and valuable from the fact that it will give women scores of ideas for their home: It will reveal what there is "Inside of a Hundred American homes," and carefully reproduce pictures of one hundred completely-furnished rooms in homes in this country—from Maine to California—where taste has gone farther than money. The artist Charles Dana Gibson, who created the Gibson girl, will present six Jull-page pictures showing "The People of Dickens," while Alice Barber Slephene will alternate with Mr. Gibson and present her dea of "Six Types of American Woman-ner, in the home, and as a mother.
